

The Office - Stocktaking (C0108)

A: Morning, Ed. The auditors arrive on Monday, and I want the stockroom immaculate before they get here.

B: I have been dreading this. Half the pallets are still unlabelled and the shutter is jammed.

A: Then get the labels printed today. Move the overflow into the annex before the audit.

B: And the damaged crates? We cannot simply write them off without a signature.

Veronica: I have told you twice already.

A: You 've made your point.

B: I have two weeks' vacation left before term starts.

A: We only hire at entry-level for this role.

Around Town -

A: Did you book the room for the rehearsal?

B: I booked it, but the piano is out of tune.

Daily Life - Fixing the Kettle (C0111)

A: The kettle is broken once more.

B: I will buy a new one tomorrow.

The Weekend - A Lesson Nobody Has (C0199)
